

INFORMATION AREAS

When the educational institution is fully equipped, in addition to classes or classrooms, it is possible to organize a distributed broadcasting system. The system can be used both for broadcasting news and information of the educational institution and as a public address system. Broadcasting is done through a content player, which allows all participants in the educational process to participate in the preparation of content. For convenience, we recommend placing multiple panels.

In the hallway of the educational institution we place an interactive schedule for students. We use high resolution touch screen LCD panels as displays. An interactive timetable can easily be implemented using them.
